“John Lyon's Company--On May 3, 1776, a company of 10, from Pennsylvania-John Lyon, John Boggs, Henry Dickerson, Thos. Dickerson, Wm. Graydon, James Kelly, James Little, Wm. Markland, John Virgin, and Reason Virgin-, "came to John Hinkson's improvement, where some persons had resided for nearly a year past." At the instance of Hinkson, Wm. Hoskins conducted them to some rich lands which had not been taken up, some miles to the east-probably on Houston creek (then called Martin's creek), in Bourbon Co; at any rate, "Townsend and Cooper's run were between their improvements and Hinkston."
Besides the usual improvements-uncovered cabins, small clearing, initials on trees, etc.-they covered John Lyon's cabin, 14x16 feet, with boards, made it their "station-camp," split some rails, inclosed a piece of ground, planted some corn, peach stones, and apple seeds, and lived there until June; when seven, and shortly after two others, returned up the Ohio river to Redstone. Win. Graydon remained in the country, and in the summer of 1777 was killed by Indians at the Shawnee spring.
Hinkson's Settlement, "on Licking creek," says a letter from Col. John Floyd to Col. Win. Preston, dated at Boonesborough “ per <http://www.shawhan.com/collins.html>

“Reason Virgin, of Fayette Co., located a tract of land, for which he received a Virginia certificate June 22, 1780, which was surveyed November 13th the same year as "Virgin Dove," containing four hundred acres, adjoining lands of Daniel Leet and John Brownlee. Patent was issued March 2, 1786. The tract was divided into two tracts; the one on the north side, containing one hundred and fifty-seven acres, was sold June 20, 1786, to David Adams, who three years later sold to James Ross, who had purchased the south part, containing two hundred and forty-three acres, June 25, 1787. Brice Virgin resided in 1784 on a tract which he had taken up, and for which he had received a Virginia certificate. On the 7th of August, 1784, he sold two hundred acres of it to James Wilson, and on the 12th of July the next year sold the remainder, viz., "all that tract whereon I now live," to Reason Virgin. This land is now mostly owned by the Brownlees and Ramseys. “ per <http://www.chartiers.com/crumrine/twp-franklin.html>
